

Task done on a discussion board:

Write a statement which you know is not true involving one of the following concepts: continuity, Intermediate Value Theorem, derivative at a point, derivative as a function, power rule, or derivatives of polynomials, exponential functions, or log functions.

Read the statements that have already been posted. Your statement must not be the same as a previously posted statement.